Claudio

I have spoken to Nigel Shackleton, the ex Newport employee and inventor. I think it is extremely unlikely he will sign any forms, except perhaps if he is offered a significant sum of money.

I also have the impression that he is and has been very unwell and approaches from Pirelli probably harm his health. Accordingly I do not think he should be approached again unless there is absolutely no other option, or Pirelli can offer him some financial payment.

However, it should be born in mind that he says he is taking legal action against Pirelli.

Regards
Roger
